

Chemical Elements Assignment Grading Rubric

Authored by Gene Yang (<http://www.geneyang.com>)

Adapted for use at South Philadelphia HS

Category	4	3	2	1
Content 30% of Total	Comic demonstrates mastery of chemical compound. All ten required components present in the comic.	Comic demonstrates understanding of assigned chemical compound. At least seven required components are present in the comic.	Comic demonstrates some understanding of assigned chemical compound. At least five of the required components are present in the comic.	Comic demonstrates minimal understanding of assigned chemical compound. Few of the assigned components are present in the comic.
Creativity 30% of Total	Comic demonstrates a high level of creativity and imagination in the usage of application features, text, graphics and/or Photo Booth.	Comic demonstrates creativity and imagination in the usage of application features, text, graphics and/or Photo Booth.	Comic demonstrates some creativity and imagination in the usage of application features, text, graphics and/or Photo Booth.	Comic demonstrates minimal creativity and imagination in the usage of application features, text, graphics and/or Photo Booth.
Readability 20% of Total	Comic is consistently readable and understandable. Layout is clear and lettering in word balloons is neat and legible.	Comic is usually readable and understandable. Layout is adequate and lettering in word balloons is adequate.	Comic is sometimes illegible. Layout is inconsistent and lettering in word balloons is unclear at times.	Comic is illegible. Layout is unclear and word balloons are difficult to read.
Writing & Layout 10% of Total	No misspelled words or grammatical errors.	Only one or two misspelled words or grammatical errors.	A few misspelled words or grammatical errors.	Many misspelled words and/or grammatical errors.
Copyright 10% of Total	All text and graphics sources are properly documented in a Works Cited page.	Some documentation of text and graphics sources is present in a Works Cited page.	There is little documentation of text or graphics cited for sources of information or the citation is unclear.	There is no documentation of text or graphics cited for sources of information.